Headmistress' Message

"All is buxomenesse there and bokes for to rede and to lerne, and grete love and lykynge for eche of hem loveth the other."

- from Piers Plowman

If we can decipher the unusual wording and spelling of The Study's motto, which was decided upon in 1917 when the school was in its infancy, we find that it still captures the spirit and soul of the school as we know it in 1992.

We can translate "buxomnesse" as joy, or happiness, and reflect on the pleasure we all feel in belonging to The Study community: the beautiful buildings, the fun of sports and activities, the satisfaction of accomplishment and learning, the warmth of companionship.

"Bokes for to rede and to lerne" are of course the foundation of a school, and The Study has them and cherishes them beyond all else. But the books by themselves are not enough; The Study's special offering is the skill and patience of gifted teachers, leading students to the books and illuminating them with the light of their own enthusiasm and knowledge.

The "grete love and lykynge ..." that is so much a part of the school, shows in everything that goes on: the warmth of the friendships that last for decades, the thoughtfulness of girls for their classmates who need help, the delight the older girls take in the younger ones, and the respect, not to say adoration, of the older ones by the youngsters. It is indeed touching and heartwarming to be part of an institution where human values are cherished above all else.

Congratulations and best wishes to the Class of '92. We say good-bye to you with regret, but also with confidence, confidence that the values you have absorbed at The Study will stay with you forever, and will help you to achieve your hearts' desires in the years to come.

Well, high school has been pretty fun surprisingly enough. I made the most of my semi-hostile surroundings. Linda & Bianca, my best friends, we had some euphoric times downtown, eh? Spending summers at Bianca's house, Boston, blah, blah, blah. Anyway, Shawna my friend, lockjaw, clotting, toileth, pull in the direction of Flowerhead II, you're not stupid, Heather, away from Crescent and down Double Deuce. Shoplifters of the world unite and take over-The Smiths.Calories-Ugh.Class trips-ooh, ah, so much fun. Sarah-Kettle Creek. Alexis-mother, Aunt Jemima, I plan to visit the farm someday. Stratford-in and out windows. Mrs.R-Blind as a bat. So many nights downtown, where did they all go? Basketball & Soccer tournaments, eating our way through Bishop's + Stanstead cafeterias. Grade 7&8, throwing things out the window.Boy, we've matured haven't we? All I can say is that high school was really fun okay, great, goodbye.
A special note for my family. Thanks to Mummy, Daddy, Elsa, C, Meen, and Mac. Also in loving memory of Minx.

THIS WOMAN'S WORK

Pray God you can cope
I stand outside this woman's work,
This woman's world.
Ooh, it's hard on the man
Now his part is over
Now starts the craft of the father.

I know you have a little life in you yet
I know you have a lot of strength left
I know you have a little life in you yet
I know you have a lot of strength left
I should be crying but I just can't let it show
I should be hoping but I can't stop thinking
Of all the things I should've said
That I never said,
All the things we should've done
That we never did,
All the things I should've given
But I didn't
Oh, darling, make it go,
Make it go away.

Give me these moments back
Give them back to me
Give me that little kiss
Give me your hand.

I know you have a little life in you yet
I know you have a lot of strength left
I know you have a little life in you yet
I know you have a lot of strength left
I should be crying but I just can't let it show
I should be hoping but I can't stop thinking
Of all the things we should've said
That were never said.
All the things we should've done
That we never did.
All the things that you needed from me
All the things that you wanted for me
All the things I should've given
But I didn't
Oh, darling, make it go away
Just make it go away now.

Mu Gamma

This year our basic aim and goal was to increase the already fantastic Mu Gammian Spirit. We did this by organizing a number of different activities for Thursday morning house meetings. Not only was this a great success for spirit but it allowed each member to excel academically and athletically. We've had a superb year so far and hopefully will continue this way. We hope that you all have had a good time cuz we sure did. Thanx to every member for making Mu Gamma THE ABSOLUTE MOST FANTASTIC AND EXCELLENT HOUSE! And just for Heather...May the Pink Fish live forever!!!

Love,

Beta Lambda

ode to BL

The people are what make the house so special
Their spirit and enthusiasm are absolutely essential
Together they make what is known to all as BL,
Where everyone has a ball
As house heads and friends we would like to say:
Thank-you, good luck next year and have a nice day!!

From all of us, thank you guys for your support and fun. It has been a most successful year. Good luck to next year's House heads and don't forget WE'RE RED HOT!!!

Love,
Jen, Kim, and Joumana

Kappo Rho

KP in the stands let me hear you clap your hands now that you got the beat let me hear you stomp your feet... Well KP is definitely onto a good start this year. Whether in sports, academics, or spirit, all fellow Kapparoians have pulled and strived to make the best house. We couldn't have done a better job. Thanx guys! Remember all the new cheers we learned, games we played and ideas we shared. Good luck in future years and REMEMBER

Treasurer

Collection this year has been a great success. With our weekly collections and bazaar we have managed to raise a great deal of money for needy charities such as: The Kids Help Hotline, Dans La Rue, the Montreal Children's Hospital, AIDS and Cancer Research, the Urban Wildlife, the Children's Wish Foundation, and especially for our foster child, Belinda Amador. We would like to thank each and everyone of you for making an effort and for trying to remember to bringing in as much money as possible every week. Keep up the good work guys and good luck to next year's treasurers.

Sincerely,

Shawna Silver
Joumana Nubani

Graduation

The empty Fund
Grad is a time full of fun and joy
But so far it has brought heartache for there are no boys
A dress, a limo and a caleche for two
It doesn't matter; for all night is going to be spent in the loo
Hotel Vogue is to be the spot
but there is to be no sleep, so bring your own cot
MILK has been the subject upon which we cannot agree is it important, and to what degree?
Yet after all it will be the best
For Jen, Jacks, and Sarah are running it!!
So you might as well stop now and end the fight and better get psyched for one incredible night!!

Love,
Jen, Jacky, and Sarah

Entertainment

This year started off on a great note with our Mid-Term Madness 7&8 dance. It was such a great success that we are planning another one. Next came our Christmas Dinner and Talent Show which couldn't have gone any better. From Kindergarten dancing to Grade 11 singing, everyone really had a blast. The next big step is Cotillion which is well underway. It will be held at the St. James Club and is sure to be a success. We hope everyone has enjoyed themselves this year.

Thanx for a great year,

Publicity

Hi Everyone,

We would like to take this opportunity to say that we love ourselves. We are schizophrenic egomaniacs, but heck who isn't? We drew all the posters and it was loads of fun. We swear that we are not being sarcastic. We love fish and coffee...that is what got us through this mess. On another note, we think that the postal strike was a bad move for our dying economy and Brian Mulroney should be pulled out of power.

Have a nice life!

Love,

Debate Club

This year the debate club has been going very well. All the students are off to an excellent start. We have attended two tournaments so far, and both of them have been a great success. We will be having a tournament in April at The Study and we are hoping it will be a great achievement. Everyone has been working very hard during the year and we hope that it continues. Thanx to everyone for their help and good luck to everyone next year.

Library

The Library Committee consists of the grade 10 girls who took turns helping Mrs. Vivian with odd jobs during their breaks. It was a good experience and we all enjoyed it.

Choir

Choir is off to a great start this year. We have just finished the Christmas concert and everyone is brimming with enthusiasm. We are all excited about our planned trip to attend a music festival in Toronto and that's not all. We plan to have a spring concert, as well, and our grand finale will be at the church service. Thanx to Mr. Christiani for all his help in making this the best choir ever.

Good luck next year!

Art

We have been doing many interesting things in art this year. Everyone, it seems, congregates in the art room to assist the artists or do something themselves. Everyone is always welcome to be creative and Mrs. Milligan helps foster a healthy environment to be imaginative. With her help we have studied and accomplished many things such as Impressionist painting. We in matric art have studied it and made our own versions. Thanx to Mrs. Milligan for her support. Good luck to next year's students!!

Peace Club

L to R: Regina Flores and Alexandra Roarke.

Peace club has been going very well this year. We accomplished many things this year. For one, we set up a booth at the Bizarre Bazaar that sold cruelty-free, environmentally-friendly products. It was a great success. We also organized different research projects for our members to do. We set out to make people more aware of cruelty to animals, the destruction of the rainforests, and other relevant matters of our time. We think that we have succeeded in this endeavor. Thanx to all Peace Club members for their loyalty and support.

Junior School Representatives

Not many people are aware that there are junior school representatives and no one really knows what we do. We organize parties and events for the junior school and we are also the communication between the senior (and middle) school and the junior school. This year's Halloween Hunt and Activity Day was a great success. We hope to have more in the future.

Good Luck to next year's reps,

If our Big Bird uniforms were supposed to boost up our self-confidence, IT DIDN'T WORK! Let's just put it this way, we didn't get lost in the dark. Well, despite all our efforts, we didn't win ONE game, but we had lots of fun and loved every single embarrassing moment of it. Hopefully, next year the Bantams will have different uniforms and do better.

Our coach, Miss Lamy was only here for a few months but we will always remember her KayWay outfits. Thanks a lot Miss Laaaaamy!

We'll miss you

Front Row: Olivia Li, Rena Chung, Yvonne Chiu.
Absent: Stephania Ten Broek.

Picture it, Montreal, 1991. The midget volleyball team is on the court, ready to play. The other team serves first because, like always, the captain lost the coin toss. The ball comes over and as usual, hits Myriam on the head. Iman makes a successful volley and smiles, realizing that bumping is not the only thing. Jameela notices that the scorers did not give us a point and trying to be a true Canadian, exclaims, "What about the score, eh?" Stephania then realizes that the next game is against BHS and refuses to play against them. Yvonne spikes the ball and confused by Ms. Sundin says, "What was that?" Olivia falls and hurts herself, again. Ani serves amazingly and Karen becomes very hyper! We've won. As we leave, we tell Ms. Sundin that we have removed her headrest once again. What a season! Thanks to Mrs. Keira, Frau Sutherland, Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Ten Broek for their support. Special thanks to Ms. Sundin and the team.

This season, with a combination of our new assistant coach, the many new Grade 7 players, and the Grade 8 & 9 players from last year, we had a great season. We beat E.C.S. in all our games together and lost hardly any of our other games. We had lots of fun in all types of weather and we couldn't have done it without Mrs. Balfour, our coach. With all the success we had this season, people had better get ready because we're going to be even stronger next year!

The Place: Jean Mance (Astroturf, Oh No!)
Time: Fall
Who: The Study vs. some undeserving team.

She kicks, the ball flies through the air and conveniently through the field goalposts. (Sounds familiar eh?) Then the other kicks, Shawna makes an amazing save (the goalposts add a little reinforcement though), Patrick Roy's influence. We lost to Trafalgar ——— in sudden death.

The Place: Stanstead
Time: Saturday ??
Weather report says RAIN (Oh what a surprise)

It was no surprise to the team that when we got off the bus it was raining. This year was the same as all the years before. The most exciting thing that happened that Saturday, was that we ate ice cream. Just kidding! The real highlight of that day was the fact that we beat ECS (1-0), which was the second year in a row. We have bragging rights, HA! Ha!

Anyway, this is what the soccer team goes through every year, but for the odd reason we love it! I would just like to give special thanks to Mrs. Balfour for living with us through the years. We'll miss you!

There is somebody worse than us! (just kidding) Despite all of our games against things, men, and animals, we pulled through (second place!!!) never forget: Nancy's 8 fouls, "You're such a parking meter!", "Ewww, I got kissed!" BISHOP'S: #4 (or was that 2 people?), please take one, mysterious ways and JELLO!, shaving cream, bladder problems, jiffy pop, screaming profanities at the ref, COW!!

We couldn't have gotten this far if it hadn't been for Mrs. Balfour and her patience, determination, and support, thank-you very much for everything. Thanks to everyone who made this season possible and so much fun. Good luck to next year's team, hope you enjoy it as much as we have.

Juvenile Basketball

The Era Has Ended

The Grade 11's are leaving (conceited eh? Just kidding). This season was especially interesting because there were two new additions to the team and the division. Ly-Na kept the team laughing (deliberate or not) with her unusual way of celebrating a basket (Price Is Right). The second addition was ESDR. That game was the most memorable game this season. None of us had played a team more violent or bad in our entire lives. Many of the players on the team have been together for five years and there are many memories; beating ECS by 1 point at Bishop's; 15 egg rolls and sticky white rice; our 98-13 game against Centennial (that we won!). We all are going to miss it next year. Good luck!

The cross-country running season this year was challenging enjoyable, and successful. Everyone made a big effort and two of our runners (Sarah Eaman and Ali Roux) participated in the finals in Quebec City. A big thank-you to Mrs. Balfour and Mme Jothy. Congratulations to the whole team and good luck to next year's group.

The Study tennis team performed remarkably well at the G.M.A.A. tennis tournament this year. The Bantam team (consisting of Malika Oberoi, Claudia Heim, Derev Antikacioglu, Hilary McGowan, Barbara Flores, and Jasmine Ezagui) and the Juvenile team (consisting of Christy Pacher, Jackie Wener, Salima Khadrouai, Ly-Na Toye, Ingrid Cosio, and Nicky Souaid) all made it to the Championship round. The doubles team (Ly-Na Toye and Salima Khadrouai) won the gold medal!! The team, under the excellent guidance of Mrs. Ewing, brought honor to themselves and the school. This year's team passes the torch to the next year's team; let it be yours and hold it high.

My Dream Rhett, Sonnet #1

As I walk in the wild forest,
I look at the beautiful sunset.
The sun is at its lowest
And I think of my dream "Rhett".

He is brave and tall,
He is romantic and strong,
As strong as a brick wall,
And he never hesitates to sing me a song.

But as I step into the prairie,
My day-dream comes to an end,
And, as if he were a fairy,
My dream man, standing on a railroad, appears as a friend.

And I thought that we were meant to be married,
But a train came full-speed, and instead, he was to be buried.

The Smells of Spring

The night was deathly quiet, as the wind caressed the tree limbs I slumbered softly amidst the cave-like blackness. My nocturnal thoughts provoked my awakening. The musty scent of my dingy dwellings comforted me. I felt my stomach scream from hunger and I decided to go out and get a bite to eat. Food was now my primary focus. Behind me I heard footsteps, the sound pumped the adrenaline in my body and I started salivating. I whipped around. My sinewy body ready to pounce. I faced my prey. He was a spineless creature with watery eyes and limp flaxen hair. He yelped in pain as I bit his neck. Blood spewed forth from the gaping wound, the earth eagerly sopped it up and then there was silence...

Planets

When you're out camping, lie on your back,
Then take your telescope out of your sack,
You'll get caught in the planets' constant gaze,
Connect them like dots and make a maze.

When you're through
Here's something new,
These are the instructions for what to do: -
First, pick a planet that interests you,
Then look at it carefully and say what you see,
"I see two blue monsters looking at me!"

Yes, indeed, there are on some planet afar,
Two blue monsters
Named Wilma and Tomstar.
So next time you're out looking at the stars,
Look very carefully at a planet called Mars.

Languages

Languages are used to
Tell what you have to say,
You use different kinds
Of languages everyday.

There are languages to discover
And languages to find.
There is a language called
Braille that you use when you are blind.

Music is a language using
The bass and treble clef,
There is sign language
For people who are deaf.

There is computer language
Made up of zero and one,
There is animal language
That's really quite fun.

No matter whether a language is a sound or a word,
Languages will always be,

Mein Urlaub

Im Maerz bin ich nach Florida gegangen. Ich bin von Dorval nach Orlando geflogen. Wir sind in einem Hotel im Disney Dorf geblieben. Das Wetter war sehr gut, sonnig und heiss. Als wir da waren, sind wir zum "Disneyworld" Komplex gegangen. Hier gibt es vier Teile: das Maerchenland, das Epcot Zentrum, MGM Studios und die Typhoon Lagune. Wir haben alle Vier besucht und das hat viel Spass gemacht. Es gab viele Vergnuegungsfahrten im Maerchenland und wir konnten viele interessante Dinge bei MGM und Epcot machen. Die Lagune ist in einem Wasserpark und wir haben viele Tage dort verbracht. In Florida haben wir auch "Seaworld" besucht. Da haben wir viele Wassertiere gesehen; zum Beispiel, Shamu, der Walfisch und die Delphine. Beim Kennedy Zentrum haben wir das "Discovery" Raumschiff gesehen. Wir haben auch viel Tennis gespielt und sind viel geschwommen. Oft sind wir auch an den Strand gegangen.
Ich habe viel Spass in Florida gehabt und hoffe dass ich ein anderes Mal wieder dorthin fahren kann.

The Day You Left Them In the Sand

The day you left in the sand
You took their hope and helping hand.

You told them to stand behind their flag
Who under the strong sun, has begun to sag.

Whose red, black, green, and white
Colours have begun to fade.

And they gave their flag their own shade.
You led them to war, behind a man
Who took their help their hope and ran.

And now you run,
But still pursued.
And now you run,
But can't elude.

The name that you
made for yourself
The name the reads
What's laid on the shelf

The name that's not just for you
But the people and their land
The day you left them in the sand.

Fantasies

Fantasies are wonderful. Fantasies are stories that form in your mind as you look out the window during math class, at school, on an unbelievably hot day, while your teacher explains the test you're about to take. Fantasies have no limits, except one: your imagination. It sets the only limit to your fantasies. Fantasies are what you like, and what you make up all by YOURSELF. Fantasies are also what fascinates you. A fantasy IS NOT: "What is the product of 222 x 53?", even if you are a mathematical genius, who loves math, adores math. That is not a fantasy!

Fantasizing is also daydreaming. A daydreamer can simply sit down and fall into their own world, which changes to the person's mood and new ideas. Your own world is not big buildings and houses and places already built, such as restaurants and schools and shopping malls. Your own world is made up and unforgettable. Your own world is something that is fun and magical and has everything you want from gallons and gallons of ice cream, to sunny relaxing days without school or homework or projects.

Some stories are fiction. Stories that are fiction are made up and daydreams from the author's mind. Other stories are non-fiction which are true. "The Lion, The Witch, and The Wardrobe" is fiction because it is impossible to walk through a wardrobe and find yourself in a magical land where animals talk and trees can listen.

Your imagination, as I said before, sets the only limit to your fantasies. In the movie, "Alice in Wonderland", the author and producer created a movie unimaginable for some people.

Your imagination is something that cannot be bought or sold. Your imagination is something that belongs to you, and that no one can take away.

All your dreams come true in your imagination. Your imagination holds magic and impossibility. Dreams of all sorts happen in your imagination. Wishes of all kinds happen in your imagination. Absolutely ANYTHING can happen in your imagination.

It's a Small World After All

Hi! My name is Geffery. I'm one of Sharon's stuffed animals and I'm a lion. I like Sharon very much. She got me when she was fairly young. I am one of the oldest toys Sharon has, but she still loves me. Sharon says she wishes all my friends can come to sleep in her bed, but we can't all fit in even though she has a double bed! Well, enough about me, now back to our secret...

First, when Sharon gets up in the morning, and gets ready for school, my friends and I try to stay as still and as quiet as a tiger ready to pounce on his soon-to-be prey. Then when she goes downstairs for breakfast, I struggle out from under the covers. Finally, when I hear the garage door open, I jump off the bed and yell, "Let's go!" Then all of my friends leap off the bureau and onto the desk. After they have all gotten off the desk and onto the floor, I lead them out the door and down the stairs to the basement. I open the door and everybody races in. They all run to the big playhouse and crowd through the door. Rosemary, the doll, begins to make breakfast. She wants to make the playhouse a big cafe for everybody in the future. She said that she will serve everybody with a menu. Sara, the other doll, thought it was a good idea and wanted to help. Pinky, the tiny pink rabbit and her two friends could form a little band in the cafe since they are the most musical amongst us.

After breakfast, we would all go to the other end of the playhouse and I would read everyone a story. I'm the only stuffed animal in the whole group that can read and write. In the future, I want to make the playhouse into a library that has all the books in the house. The two brown bears want to join me. I said if I ever make the playhouse into a library, they could be my librarians. There would be a quiet corner where I would read to little children.

After storytime, we always watch a movie. Bobby, the puppet, picks a movie and puts it in the slot of the toy television. Bobby is a movie-watching maniac. When he grows up, he wants to make the playhouse a movie theater. He would also be the director of all the movies he plans to make. He wants everybody to be his actors and actresses. Bobby likes adventure movies best. Everytime, while we are watching the movie, Rosemary makes popcorn for us to munch on (but only a little bit, we don't want to spoil our lunch).

At noontime, we all sit back at the dinner table and Rosemary serves us a big lunch because we never have any supper. Everyday, she cooks us something different but we love whatever she makes. I'm sure she is proud of her cooking.

After the big lunch, we have free time which is to do anything we want. Everytime we have free time, Rosemary runs back into the kitchen and bakes. The musicians would skip into the corner and practice playing in their band. Bobby would hurdle away in front of the television and the two brown bears and I would go to another corner and I would read to them. All the rest of the stuffed animal group join in on one of these activities.

When we come to a certain time of the afternoon, I bellow," Come on! Let's go back upstairs!" Then everyone leaves whatever they are doing and line up in front of me. I lead them to the door of the basement and up, up, up, the stairs back to Sharon's room and back onto the top of the bureau. I leap back on the bed and we all wait.

We could hear the garage door open and Sharon and her family rush in.

Then Sharon comes up to her room and starts doing her homework. While she is working hard, I creep slowly to the foot of the bed to watch her. I have watched her doing it a lot of times, that's how I learned to read and write so well.

My favorite part of the day is when Sharon goes to bed. She always has conversations with me. I would like to answer her but I can't talk when I'm near her. She is always saying if only we could talk! Too bad she doesn't know that we really can!

Coco and Sumo

"We have a lift-off," announced the high-tech computer.

Off went Coco and Sumo, the two time travelers, to a totally different time and place in the future. They were always seeking new adventures, going where no man, so far, had ever gone before. This time, they were to go to a nearby community in the year 3000. With a bang and a boom, they set off into the darkness of space.

"Hey! Why is the water supply empty!?!? I knew I shouldn't have trusted you, Coco!" complained Sumo.

"SORRY! Anyhow, we're going to land on Earth soon."

With some buzzing, beeping, and a crashing noise, the two buddies landed in the future.

"Ahhh! Great landing, Sumo!" Coco said sarcastically.

"So I'm just a beginner! Give me a break!" shouted Sumo angrily.

"All right, take a chill pill. Let's stop arguing and get some fresh air. It's pretty stuffy in this time machine," Coco said.

As Sumo and Coco took their first step off the time machine, they both noticed something revoltingly disgusting. It was the fact that garbage and trash spread for miles and miles away all over the ground. The air was definitely not fresh! It had the stench of banana peels and rotten apples. This was surely not the best site in the year 3000. Something had to be wrong.

The two pals searched for the source of the problem. They followed the junk until it was obvious that they were going nowhere. There was no possible way of finding the roots of the mess! However, their spirits arose when they suddenly bumped into a person. Now when I say bumped, I really mean BUMPED! The person was therefore very angry and hurt, but excused them after hearing their fascinating story.

Wasting no time, Coco quickly got to the point and inquired, "Why is this community so unattractive and untidy? Do you not have garbage men?

"What a primitive word!" the person commented. "Cranus is the only community on Earth without such useless people. We believe in throwing our garbage onto the streets. It's unique and carefree. Anyway, we, the people of Cranus, shall be moving to Mars in a couple of years. There is no worry."

"Wait," exclaimed Sumo, "this seems like a very familiar place. Look at it, Coco. Is it? No! It can't be! This can't be New York!?"

"Actually, I believe it used to be called by that name. However, its name was changed in the year 2000 to Amberline, and later, into Cranus," said the person.

"So that's why our time machine called this place Amberline! How logical!" Sumo and Coco both chorused together.

They talked to the man for a long time. After hours and hours had passed by, the two youngsters decided to walk around the neighborhood. They roamed from east to west until dawn. Suddenly, out of the blue, they saw a building, or what seemed to be the remains of an old building. It reminded Coco of the Seniors' Home, a home for the elderly.

"Sumo, I know this is the old Seniors' Home," Coco pointed out. "Let's take a look at this place."

The two foreigners wandered around the burnt and wrecked place. All of a sudden, they both noticed a control button of some sort on the fence which surrounded the house. This was a very queer thing to observe.

"Why does this adventure suddenly feel so much like the book, 'The Secret Garden'?!?!" Sumo said jokingly.

As expected, Sumo and Coco pressed the button. Instantly, the fence automatically pushed back. Behind the fence stood a beautiful garden with rosebushes, trees, shrubs, and flowers. It was such a lovely sight and also a big change from all the trash they had seen outside of the garden. Then out of nowhere, an old man with grey hair and spectacles peered out.

"Hey! How did you get in here?" the elderly man asked quaveringly. "Shoo! Shoo! Get out of here! This is our home! This is the new and improved Seniors' Home."

"No wait! pleaded Coco. "We do not want to harm this place."

"How are we supposed to trust you, " inquired an old lady with a pleasant but wrinkled face. "We've been cheated by unfaithful humans many times, and we're wise enough to know that you're bad guys. So.."

"No, we are not," interrupted Sumo. "We swear it!"

"You really do?" asked another old man.

"Yes, we do," replied Sumo and Coco simultaneously. "We are time travelers from the year 1992. We know how the world used to be and we know that you know too. We also know that you want it to go back to how it used to be, right?"

"You're darn right!" protested the elderly.

"Well then," started Coco, "what are you waiting for?"

"Oh, we can't help it," said the man with the shaky voice. "Those unworthy humans kicked us out of our own homes because we were so old and they don't respect us. They don't care for us anymore."

"That's probably because you don't show them who's the boss," suggested Coco. "They have probably forgotten about you because you're always hiding in this garden."

"Wait! I have an idea!" Sumo said excitedly. "Let's start a club of some sort to promote the elderly and their rights. For example, the right for you all to be respected for your wisdom."

All of the seniors agreed. In any case, they had so much spare time. They started right away, the day after. Banners, pins, and signs were made in the garden. When time had come the next morning, all the elderly and the two time travelers set up their equipment on the sidewalk. They were divided into several small stands.

After a few days, the number of people who supported their side increased tremendously. More and more citizens felt that the old people had more historical knowledge and intelligence. However, others were still not convinced. Sumo and the gang tried telling them how wonderful the world could be without pollution, and with the help and advice of seniors.

"Even if you will be departing to Mars, leave the Earth clean, so that at least your ancestors will sleep in peace in their coffins on Earth. Have a heart, " Coco said desperately, knowing that he would be one of those ancestors.

Hearing those words, many people changed their minds. They wondered how they could have been so thoughtless and how they took everything for granted. Immediately, they started to clean up the garbage and to recycle anything possible. The whole entire community eventually helped out. Cranus then became one of the cleanest and most beautiful cities on Earth. It also turned out that they stayed on the Earth instead of Mars. As for our heroes, well, they carried on to a new adventure feeling deeply satisfied.

Who's the Fool?

In "A Midsummer Night's Dream", Puck, the fairy, declares his beliefs that mortals are fools. He sees, firsthand, the actions of four humans, and declares ALL humans to be foolish. Don't you think HE is being a fool?

For one thing, he makes his decision based on only FOUR, when there are MILLIONS of other humans. Also, the humans in question have NO control of their actions when they have been sprinkled with fairy dust.

Now, I am not saying that fairies are all fools, either I like fairies, because of the magical things they do, and sometimes the way they think. Yet, all we humans know about fairies is from the writings and imaginings of other HUMANS. So really, it is Shakespeare who is saying that mortals are fools. Does that mean he is not?

So who really is the fool? If every human is as different as every funny, how can anyone say that all of them are fools? Perhaps everyone is a fool, including fairies. Besides, do we even KNOW what a fool is? All we seem to know is this general idea that a fool is a person who does something stupid. What does that mean? Everyone seems to agree to that idea - even the fairies - however, everybody has different versions. To me, a fool means a lot of different things. Here is an example:

When a girl thinks she's in love with a boy, she says that she would do anything for him. She worships the ground he walks on. She thinks up long a complicated ways to speak to him or be alone together. Two months later, she finds someone else and calls the first boy a nerd. That's one meaning of what a fool is to me.

Yet, I don't think that anybody is a fool. Just because everybody thinks differently and their views might seem strange to others, it does not mean they are strange.

Fairies are not fools either, even though their views and the views of mortals probably differ a little. Maybe Puck didn't mean that all mortals were fools or that they acted like fools all the time. Maybe all he meant was that the four humans he was watching were acting like fools right then. How are we to know what Shakespeare was thinking?

"Television's Detrimental Effect on Self-Esteem"

It has often been said that a picture is worth a thousand words. A true work of art may be analyzed in thousands of pages of a text, but one may not truly appreciate its brilliance until it is personally visualized. The expression on the face of a surprised youngster receiving a treasured gift, or the tears of a parent mourning the loss of a child can be preserved forever in the form of a picture.

The inherent need for visualization is evident throughout the history of man. Before the invention of language through the written word, communication took place through visualization. A picture of a buffalo or a hunter, conveyed precisely the message being communicated. It is therefore no surprise that we are now a society based largely on visual media.

The biggest form of a visual medium in our society is that of the television. This means of information exchange is so popular that at least one set may be found in almost every household worldwide. While television can be easily categorized as an entertainment tool, it is questionable as to its impact as an educational device. A large percentage of the programming presented on television is fictional, providing the fantasy world which attracts so many viewers to this medium.

There is another side to the impact of television. Television is a powerful means of passing information to all types of viewers on a multitude of subjects. The most common type of informative program is the newscast. This half hour capsule of information provides the average viewer with a summarized look of the events occurring throughout the world.

It is questionable if the television newscast is more educational than news transmitted through other forms of media. Television is truly an effective information passing tool. Newscasts inform the public on a great deal of events. The information, however, is in most cases brief. What makes the impact of the broadcast so effective is the inclusion of photographs and animated clips. While newspapers provide descriptive articles, television attaches visual descriptions to the reports.

The effectiveness of visualization is evident in reports about wars which rage around the world. While one may read an article about a civil war in the far reaching, remote areas of Africa, the classic cliche "out of sight, out of mind," applies all too well in masking the effectiveness of the article as regards to touching the reader on an emotional level. Photographs and clips of dying soldiers, burning homes, and orphaned children, touch a nerve in certain people which may aid in retaining the informative. Whether this can be considered more educational however is debatable. The article in the newspaper may provide an in depth analysis as to the series of events leading to the war, the current political situation, and views to the future. The story may be approached by various authors who present different viewpoints, thus providing the reader with a more unbiased view of the situation.

The television report on the other hand, will in most cases provide a summary of the events. The combination of all the visual clips shown may not truly present the clearest and most truthful picture of the situation. This may lead to a more biased presentation of the information at hand.

It is true that there are certain existing television programs which may educate and inform the public as well as the written media. Documentaries, and special extended news reports, may present the news in a more complete manner. This type of programming may truly be as effective, if not more effective than a written report in terms of public education, since it combines the effectiveness of visualization with the accuracy of in-depth reporting.

There is one area in which any type of information provided in a television newscast is greatly more effective than any length of an article in a written medium. Television is readily available to thousands of illiterate viewers, who would not be informed of the situation otherwise. In this regard, television is truly a more effective educational tool.

Television is a global visual medium which provides an impact throughout the world. Pictures are a universal means of conveying information, affecting most people, including the executives living in metropolitan cities to the farmers living in remote rural areas. Its effectiveness as a true educational tool however, cannot compare to the information provided in detailed written articles. The ideal combination is the documentary, which usually provides the depth of the article, with the effectiveness of the visualization.

Television news however, should not be completely dismissed as an educational tool, since a half hour of current events still compares favorably to being ignorant of the ever changing global situation.

Born To Run

In the day we sweat it out in the streets of a runaway American Dream
At night we ride the mansions of glory in suicide machines
Sprung from cages out on highway 9
Chrome wheeled, fuel injected
And steppin' out over the line
Baby this town rips the bones from your back
It's a death trap, a suicide rap
We gotta get out while we're young
'Cause tramps like us, baby we were born to run

Wendy, let me in, I wanna be your friend
I want to guard your dreams and visions
Just wrap your legs round these velvet rims
And strap your hands across my engines
Together we could break this trap
We'll run till we drop, baby we'll never go back
Will you walk with me out on the wire
'Cause baby I'm just a scared and lonely rider
But I gotta know how it feels
I want to know if your love is wild
I want to know if love is real

Beyond the Palace hemi-powered drones
scream down the boulevard
The girls comb their hair in rearview mirrors
And the boys try to look so hard
The amusement park rises bold and stark
Kids are huddled on the beach in the mist
I wanna die with you out on the streets tonight
In an everlasting kiss

The highways jammed with broken heroes
On a last chance power drive
Everybody's out on the run tonight
But there's no place left to hide
Together, Wendy, we can live with the sadness
I'll love you with all the madness in my soul
Someday girl, I don't know when,
We're gonna get to that place
Where we really want to go
And we'll walk in the sun
But till then tramps like us
Baby we were born to run
